If you live outside of Central Arkansas and would you like to know all the non-traditional recycling options in your area. See our website for step by step instructions on how to reproduce this system in your community.

More Recycling and Reusing Options

Most of us are familiar with what our local recycling center accepts for recycling. Beyond that, many things that we throw away can either be reused or recycled. For instance, Lowe's will take old Christmas lights and UPS takes used packing peanuts and bubble wrap! The problem is, most people don't know where to take these "non-traditional items". Our robotics team compiled a list of places in Central Arkansas that recycles non-traditional items, and reusable items a for yours, and others, benefit.

Locations for Reusing Items:

All Habitat for Humanity locations (including Searcy, Cabot, and Little Rock) accept usable items that can be used to help build or remodel a home. Here is a list of what they do not accept.

- Mattresses and water beds
- Doors with holes or rotten wood
- Incomplete toilets (must have bowl, tank, and lid), all without cracks
- Non-working appliances or over 10 years old (we can accept for scrap if brought to us)
- Computers, printers, copiers, fax machines, etc
- Outdated electrical items (would not pass code)
- Paint less than 3/4 full, rusted cans/lids, been frozen, or commercial or oil based
- Tires
- Incomplete door knobs or locks without key
- Lumber less than 4 ft. or half sheet, or with nails
- Console or projection TVs (or those not having A/V hookups)
- Textbooks and encyclopedias

Goodwill, area charities and consignment stores:

- Various gently used housewares, electronics, clothing, toys, etc.

Local Church Resource Rooms, Schools and Daycares: often need used arts and crafts supplies such as toilet paper/paper towel rolls, buttons, left over stickers, fabric, crayons, glue, scissors, paper, plastic jugs, baby food jars, unique size glass jars, books, indoor-and outdoor-toys, play props, and children's furniture.
